

Member vacancy - Utility Rates Review Council (URRC)

February 2, 2023 (Iqaluit, Nunavut) - The Nunavut Utility Rates Review Council (URRC) reviews applications from public utilities operating in Nunavut about rates and rate structure. The URRC mandate includes such matters as long-term debt, capital expenditures, and interim rates.

The URRC is seeking candidates to serve as a council member; we are looking for council members that:

- Have business and regulatory background that would prove to be an asset to the council's operations.
- Can commit the time to attend hearings, devote the time necessary to study and evaluate the matters brought before the council.
- More information can be found on the URRC website, including both the advertisement and a description of duties of council members at <http://www.urrc.gov.nu.ca>.

This is an extension to the previous advertisement for members that ran from October 1 to December 1, 2023. This call out for members will run until a suitable candidate is found. There is no deadline.

Please send your resume to the executive director for the URRC URRC@gov.nu.ca or
