Notice To Owners of Boilers and Pressure Vessels

The Boilers and Pressure Vessels Act requires the owner of a boiler or pressure vessel to notify the office of the Chief Boiler Inspector of any sale, exchange or any other disposal of the boiler or pressure vessel. This includes boilers or pressure vessels that are included in the sale of a building or other property. It also includes a boiler or pressure vessel removed from service and scrapped. The notification must include the names and addresses of all material parties to the transaction.

Until we are notified of the transfer or disposal, the owner of record will be responsible for any fees for registration or inspection that may incur.
